Age Range: 26-35

- Focusing on building a strong foundation
- Growing professional skills and expertise
- Taking on more responsibilities
- Building financial stability

Financial Behaviour Score

Financial Behaviour Score is a numerical representation of your financial well-being - offering an in-depth assessment of how closely your financial choices align with your personality, demography, generation, life constraints, and the macro-economic environment.

Disclaimer: Financial Behaviour Score is part of 1 Finance's patent-pending holistic financial planning framework that is aimed at generating a wellness plan for the members to help them achieve financial well-being.

MoneySign™

Vigilant Turtle

You're an incredibly composed and grounded individual with a strong sense of self-control, which comes from being satisfied with your achievements. You firmly believe in working hard to achieve your goals and follow a very systematic and disciplined approach while solving problems across different facets of your life. You dislike uncertainty because it leaves you feeling anxious, and you're apprehensive about deviating from tried-and-tested conventions as you believe it exposes you to unwanted risks.

You're extremely skilled at negotiating difficult situations by applying a watertight system of checks and balances that you've established over time. You're careful and highly observant, which allows you to anticipate undesirable outcomes and prepare in advance. You believe in taking one step at a time, and that holds you in good stead.

Disclaimer: MoneySign™ is 1 Finance's patent-pending personality assessment framework that implements one of the most scientifically validated models in psychology and helps in hyper-personalising the financial suggestions.

Behavioural Biases

We have also identified some behavioural biases that you're likely to display while making financial decisions, and should be conscious of:

■ Endowment Bias

You're prone to placing a higher value on an inherited or purchased asset than its fair market value. Consequently, you might hold on to such assets even if the future prospects are not very positive. Because of this bias, you may continue to stick with assets that you're familiar with instead of scouting for better opportunities, which would result in an unsuitable asset allocation.

■ Regret-Aversion Bias

You worry about incurring losses that arise from independent decision-making, which can either result in a preference for inaction to avoid the sting of regret, or transpire into exhibiting herd behaviour. This bias can cause you to become too conservative in your approach and to default to low-risk or popular financial instruments, which may not be the best choice for achieving your long-term milestones.

Behavioural Biases

We have also identified some behavioural biases that you're likely to display while making financial decisions, and should be conscious of:

■ Status Quo Bias

You aren't keen to make changes to your life unless absolutely necessary, and would rather choose options that require minimal effort. This restricts you from exploring more beneficial opportunities. This bias could lead to you sticking to financial instruments that do not align with your financial traits and/or goals, because you're not considering better options.

Your Financial Analysis

Emergency Planning

Emergency Funds

1L

Ideal: 3.3L - 11.2L

In case of an unfavourable event, a lack of liquid assets could jeopardise your financial independence.

Health Insurance

35L

Ideal: 9L - 15L

Purchasing a high level of health insurance may be a personal preference, but it does come with a high premium cost.

Life Insurance

0L

Ideal: 202.5L - 337.5L

Inadequate life cover can be damaging for dependants if the policy owner leaves behind a large amount of liabilities, with only a few assets.

Your Financial Analysis

Expense and Liability Management

Good Liabilities-to-Total Assets

75%

Ideal: 17.0%-42.5%

Going overboard with liabilities defeats the purpose of taking them on, especially if returns on your asset portfolio are low.

Bad Liabilities-to-Total Assets

3%

Ideal: 0.0%-3.3%

It is critical to keep unsecured or high-cost debt under control because, in comparison, a majority of assets yield lower returns.

Expense-to-Income

39%

Ideal: 0.0%-48.2%

Keeping expenses under control reduces the likelihood of encountering a cash flow problem.

Good Liability Linked EMI-to-Income

Ideal: 10.6%-26.4%

A balanced approach to debt repayment is important to prevent paying too much interest and to invest a respectable part of income for the future.

Bad Liability Linked EMI-to-Income

Ideal: 0.0%-10.0%

If the burden of unsecured or high-cost EMI debt is high, it should be repaid quickly, preferably with low-yielding assets.

Savings-to-Income

8%

Ideal: 20.7%-51.6%

Inconsistent savings, owing to an inability to delay gratification, leave you financially vulnerable.

Your Financial Analysis

Asset Allocation

Equity

Ideal: 26.7%-67.8%

Keeping equity allocation low could potentially limit the long-term growth potential of a portfolio and may result in lower returns.

Real Estate

97%

Ideal: 33.4%-58.4%

Overexposure to the real estate market may lead to portfolio concentration, a lack of diversification, and limited liquidity and flexibility.

Passive Income

Ideal: 3.3%-29.9%

Keeping very low or no passive income assets may limit one's ability to generate consistent and reliable streams of income in the long term and increase vulnerability to financial risks.

Debt

Ideal: 5.1%-30.1%

Keeping debt allocation low may increase portfolio risk and reduce its stability.

Alternative Investments

Ideal: 0.0%-29.9%

Allocating some portion of the portfolio to alternative products provides diversification benefits.

Net worth

Your net worth is simply the difference between what you own (like your house, retirement funds, etc) and what you owe (your liabilities such as mortgage, credit card debt and so forth).

Value Under Advisory: ₹ 1.79 Cr

This includes total of your assets and liabilities.

Your Financial Wellness Plan

Key Takeaways

Expense and Liability Management

- Your good liabilities to total assets ratio is relatively high. Consider reducing your good liabilities by a fraction to start with.
- Your savings are considerably low. You might want to consider certain incremental changes to get back on track.

Asset Allocation

- Your equity allocation is considerably low—our suggestion is to start building it consciously.
- You should consider exploring more passive income sources. It will help you attain financial well-being earlier.

Emergency Planning

- You need to build more liquidity for a rainy day.
- Your family's finances could get strained in case of your unexpected demise. Consider purchasing more life cover.
